DEDICATION

"Moose" Morehead was no stranger to many of the graduating class when we rematriculated at the old Alma Mater. Many of us knew him, or of him, back in the "Good old (prewar) days" on the campus of Wake Forest College. Previous acquaintances are unnecessary, however, for a man who is a bona fide friend of any student in the field of medicine.

In dedicating the 1950 Yearbook to Dr. Robert P. Morehead it is in remembrance of his untiring effort to teach us a few of the fundamental principles of disease processes, and his philosophy of the importance of having certain fundamental knowledge at the fingertips.

Being a master of his own philosophy has been an inspiration to each of us.

THANKS, "MOOSE"

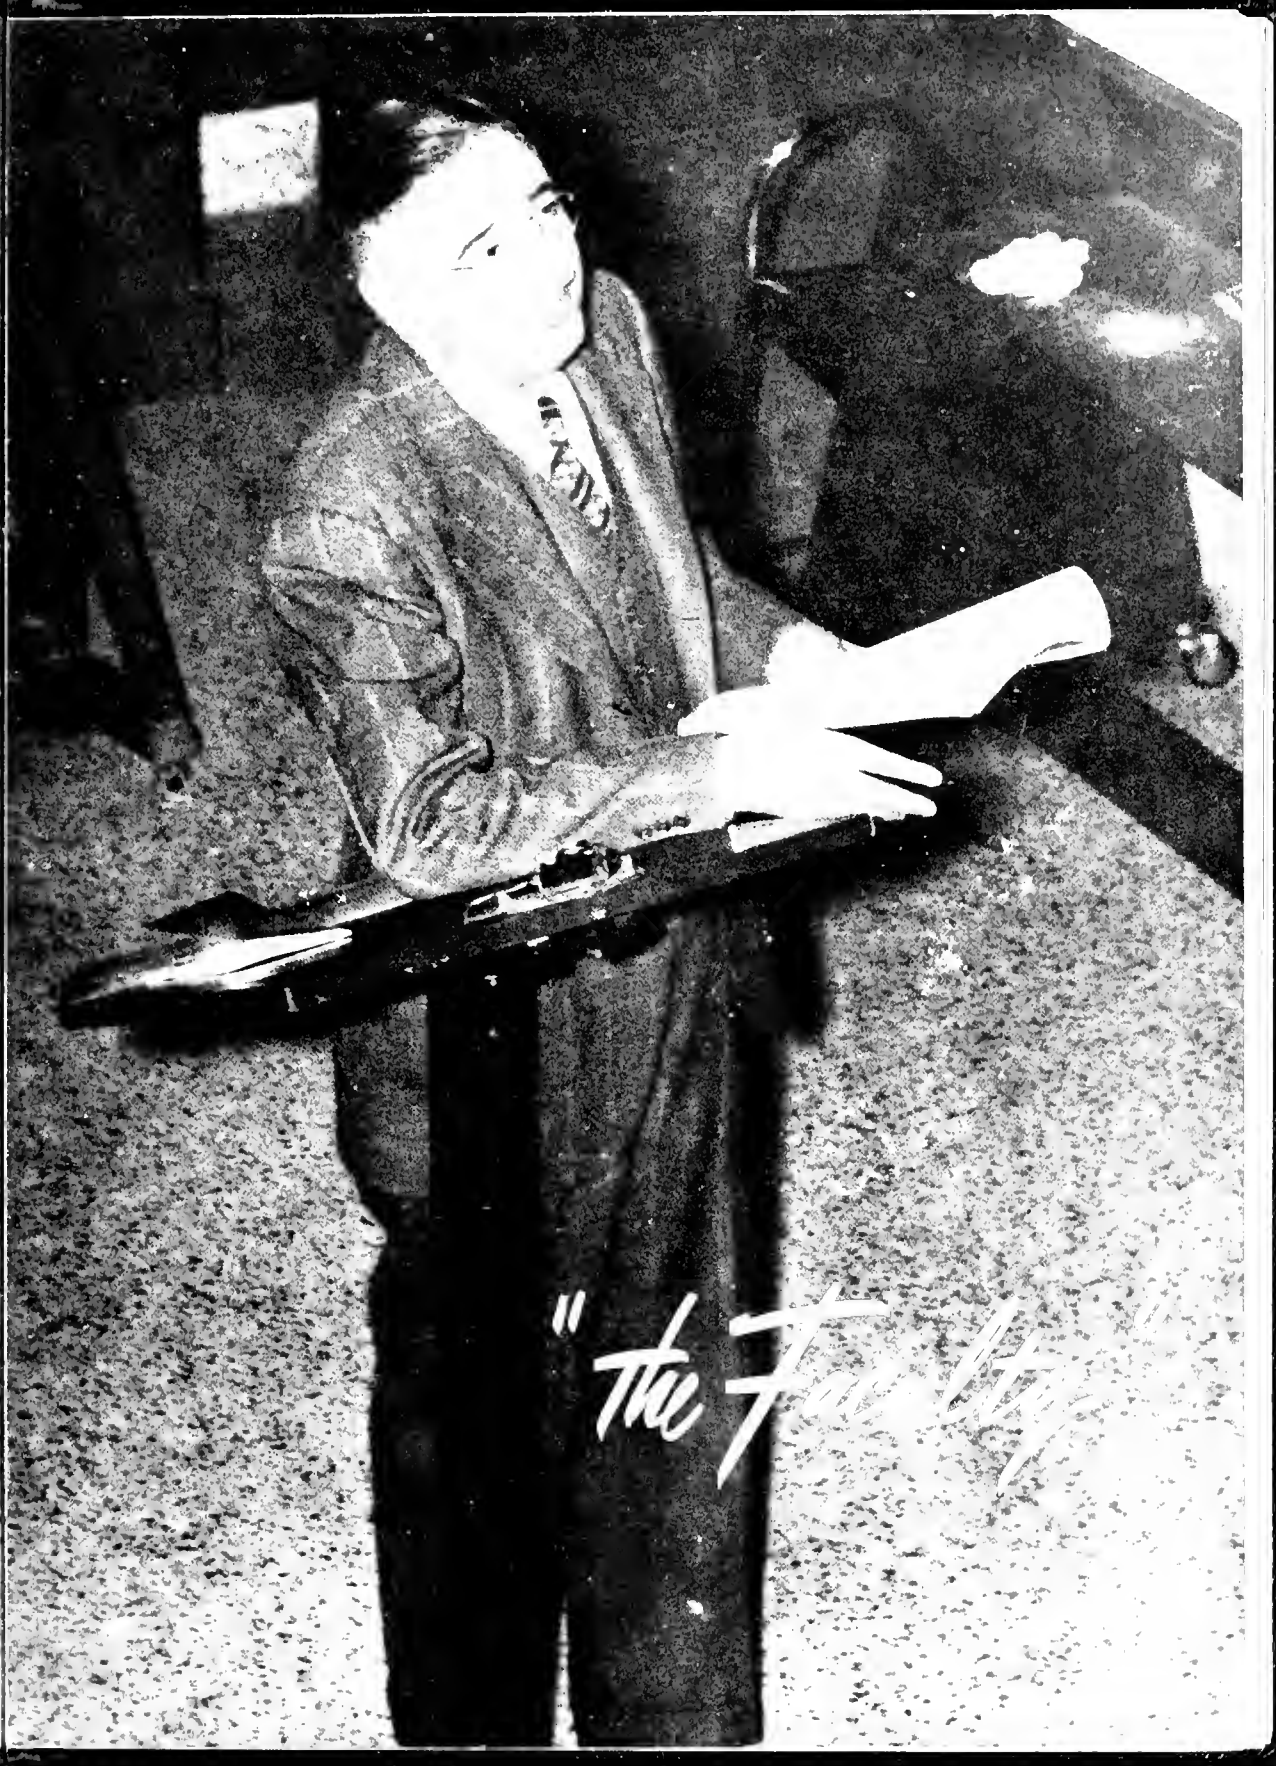

DR. ROBERT P. MOREHEAD

The FACULTY

Our faculty, like our school, is relatively young, the majority of the members having been attached to the institution less than nine years; however, the name of Bowman Gray School of Medicine is becoming well known for the calibre of graduates it is sending to hospitals throughout the nation as internes. There could be no better way to judge the men under whom we have received our training.

- Opposite page: Dr. Wingote M. Johnson, of the Department of Internal Medicine.

"The Faculty"

PART OF OUR CLINICAL

Is it "PID" or Appendicitis?

Freud would explain it this way.

Dr. R. W. Postlethwait (resigned).

Leukoplakia or Grade III? We will soon know.

2:30 Monday P. M., X-ray over, now Med. literature.

A difficult D Dx now seems so simple.

"Golf ball shadows" nothing else could give it.

The 2 a. m. formula of a two month infant.

A post-mortem of a post-mortem of a post-mortem.

FACULTY AS WE SAW THEM

A complaining patient is sick until proven otherwise.

11:30 a. m. most any Tuesday.

Give the D Dx of skin lesions.

His wife censured the mustache.

Urology ward rounds Thursday p. m.

The peanut went in here.

Where do the symptoms of Epilepsy stop and signs begin?

What does that have to do with fishing?

We know what you are doing!

"The Freshman Year"

MRS. ALICE STALLINGS

Always the first person to know the name and face of each freshman. Although her dozens of daily courtesies are extended to anyone in any class, she will be remembered longest by most of us as a "First acquaintance" at Bowman Gray.

If this is "Rushing" season, who is rushing who?

We'll eat your chow, even if we don't pledge.

Anything to score him into signing.

The Yadkinville "Line"—it's a new one anyway.

At least it looks like a funny joke.

"DDT" Jones is rushed by Salem College.

Just Boyd—why say more?

The "Major" told that one.

"Cigarettes and—."

A Student's first friend—"The Major."

May be so, but it says here . . .

Chemistry is the stuff from which anatomy is made.

Let's cut it off before they tag it.

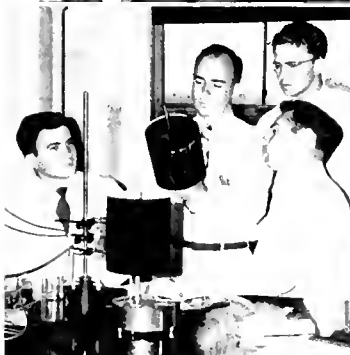

Hurry and find it — I don't believe it.

Just Bessie Key—that's all.

Now the peritoneum goes this way—no, that way.

"You don't need a book in this course."

WELL!??

"... but sodium bilirubinate.
..."

"But the book says it will increase—not decrease."

When will we know why we did this?

May be this dag wasn't made that way.

No wonder Hardaway likes physiology.

If it takes that many to teach HIM—????

"Now this quiz is as easy as we could make it."

And after six months we find that it breathes.

Oct. 14th, founding of "Beamer
Day."

The Sophomore Year

Occasionally a second year student will have time out for a few diversions such as picnics, etc. (page 37). However, in thinking of the sophomore year the mental picture is more nearly one such as that appearing on the opposite page.

Instead of the famous "Three Rs" one is confronted with the "Five Ps": Pathology, Physiology, Pharmacology, Parasitology, and Physical Diagnosis. Although, along with others, they are classified as preclinical subjects, they form the foundation upon which all clinical knowledge is based. They form a major part of that rugged road which one must travel before "Going on the wards" to meet his first patient.

the Sophomore Year

Etamon, or priscol—take your choice, but take it.

What's funny about that?

But the times when they wished that they had!

We hove to start somewhere.

The night before exom.

Surgery exom. Was IT rough???

The shift is to the left.

See, this class never studies.

They become Juniors anyway.

Almost ready for the picnic.

Every picnic has its softball game.

And it's baby-sitters.

Everybody cooks.

That guy is no junior.

Come and get it.

Watch the fingers.

Now everybody is hoppy.

Another kind of picnic.

THE GRADUATING CLASS

On September 25, 1946, what is probably the most varied assortment of students in the history of medical schools became the new freshman class at The Bowman Gray School of Medicine. Ages were well scattered from eighteen to forty-five. Accompanying this aggregation of embryonic medicos to Winston-Salem were sixteen wives and fifteen offspring.

Some members of the class came directly from college. Some were detoured by way of most any meridian of the globe. There were fighter pilots, waist gunners, hospital corpsmen, infantrymen, a "Tin can" skipper, and a submarine officer. There was one who had been a prisoner of the Germans in Norway, another who was shot through the shoulder in crossing the Elbe. Other "Pasts" were just as interesting, but after the first session under "The Major" in "404" thoughts of the past were soon replaced with those of the task at hand.

During the last four years our minds have been pondering about many things, but the question uppermost in our cerebro has been, "What is going to happen next?" We were the first class to take "Bac-T" the freshman year, the first class to have our pathology and physiology correlated, the first class to enjoy the quarter system, and last, but not least, the first class to have the privilege of taking twenty-four wives and thirty-five children to a graduation at Wake Forest College campus. If there are any more "Firsts" to be done, just stand by and watch—we'll do 'em.

Graduating Class

The Tysans as of October first.

Betty Coleman and daughter Leslie.

Old Classmates!

We all got a cigar on this one.

Margaret and Margaret Ann.

Sitting, waiting for little brother.

Dave's specialty—girls.

A wife who keeps her hands in the dough.

Maurice and Alice. That ain't theirs in the background.

Lost child of " '50" to make the deadline, Lorry Crowford.

Tommy and Mary Longmire. Hey, don't eat that!

So Corbett has a sister!

Getting ready for a year in Honolulu!

"No! I want it typed this way."

The eldest of the closs' original 15 kids, Peggy Pope.

Why be half safe?

Scottie Walker.

Just a couple of the Bumgarner boys.

Look what happened to Perry while Daddy was becoming a doctor!

Just a reminder that we were exposed to preventive medicine.

Boys, you are big enough to blow your own balloons.

Well???

You again????

He just wouldn't listen!

Another of the extra-curricular activities.

To prove we CAN get a portrait of anybody.

That surgery Paper! I'll never get to study.

All from one little bug, may be a contaminant.

Well, you know Eddie, he had time for everything.

No time for ward work, I have to present a patient.

Some of us had help with our lab work.

But poor Mac studied all the time.

No time for—??

Didn't we?

Sooner or later it happened to all of us.

Thursday morning at Children's Home.

PI is finished — just fourteen pages to go.

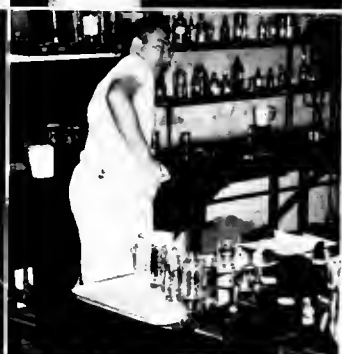

Teaching a diabetic to test for sugar.

Gray and White Matter.

Whaddoy mean, "No Histolytica"?

Uniforms are acid-fast too, Freddie.

There is no mattress in this picture!

If the picture were complete his feet would be in Nowell's stomach.

We finally got another picture of Henry's face.

Opposite Page: Among the most pleasant memories which will be associated with our days at the medical school will be those of picnics at Miller Park. Faculty, student body, wives, children, and friends all joined in to have fun together. This picture was snapped at pavilion 5 as Dr. Groat showed his opinion of Sam's joke, and Nancy battled a hot dog.

The Student Government

The Student Government is made up of the above four members of the Student Council, plus a representative and the president from each of the four classes. The Student Government is responsible for all activities of the student body, but acts mainly through its subordinate committees, the chairman of each of which is appointed by the President. The Student Government is also a disciplinary body, but to this date has never had the necessity to act as such.

THE DANCE COMMITTEE

For the picnics at Miller Park, and the dances on "The Roof", at Village Inn and at "The Grill", we owe our thanks to the Dance Committee. Its members do not have to work so often, but when the occasion does arise for a dance or party their tasks are many, time consuming, and without reward.

THE ATHLETIC COMMITTEE

The "Demon Docs" represent the school in tag football, basketball and softball in the city league. The biggest job of the Athletic Committee is to find a few men who think they have a couple of hours per week to spare from the books, and enough energy to participate when time does permit.

Back row: Huitt, Eller, Byrd, Schultz, Coutourier, Hollondsworth, Lewis.

FOOTBALL

Tag football is a pretty strenuous endeavor for men who do not have time for doily workouts, but for some reason there were always enough present at game time, during this (1949) season, to put a full team on the field. The season was not too successful, on a basis of wins and losses, but at least a good time was had by all. Many more participated during the season than are shown in the above picture. This just happened to be the group that played the day the "Football team" had its picture made.

THE JOURNAL

The Journal of The Bowman Gray School of Medicine is published quarterly, and the fact that it is sponsored by the student body makes it unique among medical journals. Its subject matter consists of articles written by students, and approved by the faculty. This non-profit periodical is distributed to the student body, faculty and alumni of the school, to all medical libraries in the United States, and to eight foreign countries.

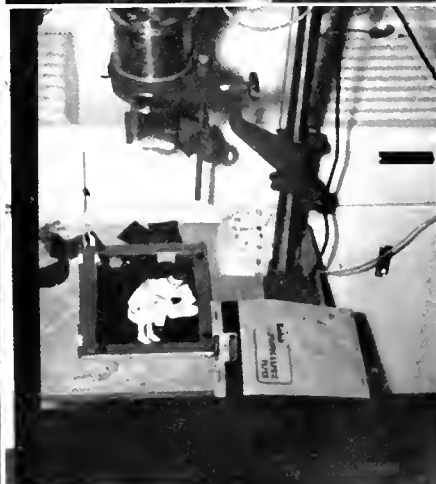

For assistance in preparation of the 1949-50 numbers we are indebted to the students for preparation of the material, to the faculty for selecting the most suitable papers for publication, and to Mabe, Cochran, Ichelson, Folk, McLean, and Johnson, for their assistance in proofing the many articles which have appeared during the last year.

THE ANNUAL

The Gray and White Matter is published annually (almost) for the same reasons that other yearbooks are published. For this particular edition we would like to extend a note of appreciation to Mrs. Bethea for the use of the "Jeep", and to Mrs. Bumgarner for the use of her kitchen as a darkroom, and her dining room as a general office. We appreciate also the splendid work of Peggy White in preparing the "White Matter." Neither can we forget the assistance of Campbell McMillan, John Hardaway, and Bernie Eisenberg, in getting us started on a theme, and Bob Huntley and Glenn Hays for assisting us in contacting the advertisers. And also to Nell Benton, Alice Stallings, Katherine Davis, Nan Hartman, Fane Lineback, Ruth Spach, Jim Jeffries, Bill Clifford, and last but not least our advertisers, thanks a million!

WINGATE JOHNSON STUDENT ORGANIZATION

The purpose of the Wingate Johnson Student Organization is to encourage spiritual growth and the development of social consciousness, integrating them with the attainment of scientific knowledge, so that the medical student may gain an appreciation of medicine in its broader aspects and may be fitted to serve as a true Christian physician.

The activities of the group are open to all students in the medical school and their wives and friends. A council with representatives from all the classes acts as a steering committee. Some of the activities which the group has sponsored are: medical and non-medical films; supper and discussion groups; addresses by outstanding Christian speakers; an annual banquet.

Book II White Matter

Dedication

A dash of white as she hurries down the hall to help some forlorn preclinical—infectious laughter issuing forth from the Educotional Department—a stern, but understanding, way to reprove the student who becomes confused and “forgets”—a gracious hostess ot the teas ond receptions—one who always sees a way to help others and then does it so quietly—an imbedded dislike for the thought of ironing—a keen interest in things new, time-saving, and improvements over the old—a sense of humor that is surpassed by few—this and much more molds gracefully together to form our irreplaceable Miss Hildred Harrison. It is with great pride that we dedicate this book, White Matter 1950, to her.

MISS HILDRED HARRISON, B.S., R.N.

Florence Nightingale Pledge

I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the Presence of this assembly:

To pass my life in purity and to practice my Profession faithfully.

I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not knowingly administer any harmful drug.

I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standards of my profession, and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my profession.

With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work, and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care.

HISTORY OF THE NURSING SCHOOL

"Mighty oaks from little acorns grow" may describe the growth that has taken place in the School of Nursing of the N. C. Baptist Hospital. In September 1923, fifteen students became the first class to begin training here. The school was opened under the direction of Miss Edno L. Heinzerling who still so capably directs the school and in September 1949 welcomed a class of fifty-three students, more than three times the size of the first class. Ten of the fifteen from the first class completed the required training and were graduated in the first commencement exercises, held May 25, 1926, at the First Baptist Church. Each graduate was presented with a class pin and $25 and Mrs. J. J. Roddick, a member of the Board of Trustees, gave each girl her invitations. Judge A. Wayland Cooke, Secretary of the Hospital Board from Greensboro, N. C. was speaker for the occasion.

The first graduate of the school was Miss Bryte Harrill (now Mrs. Felix Wilson) from the Mills Home, Thomasville, N. C. who completed her training July 4, 1926. Mrs. Wilson now lives on Meadowbrook Drive, Winston-Salem, N. C. In the same month as the first graduating exercises, the Board authorized the building of a Nurses' Home. Before this, the students stayed in what is now Myrtle Apartments and also on the fifth floor of the hospital. The Nurses' Home building was dedicated on March 29, 1928, having been named in honor of Miss Blanche Barrus. Miss Barrus was born in Pollocksville, N. C. She entered Meredith College, Raleigh, N. C. in 1906 and was graduated in 1910. Her classmates tell of her unselfish, sacrificial spirit and her constant concern for others. For several years after her graduation, Miss Barrus served as executive secretary of the state Woman's Missionary Union.

Then she studied medicine in order to become a medical missionary, India being the foreign field of her choice. She was appointed by the Northern Baptist Convention to head a medical school for women in India, but before her ambition could be realized, she became ill and had to give up her plans and hopes of serving in a foreign land. She did finish her internship before her death, however. Miss Barrus' portrait now hangs in the living room of the Nurses' Home.

In 1936, eighteen bedrooms were added to the Nurses' Home and in 1944, a $131,500 addition was made with accommodations for seventy-two students and with two floors devoted to the Educational Department, now used for classrooms, offices, library, and laboratories. In 1942, Victoria Courts Apartments, accommodating sixty-six students, were rented to accommodate the increased number of students added when the school participated in the Government's Cadet Training program. Affiliating students came to the school for the first time in 1944, the first affiliation being arranged with Mary Elizabeth Hospital, Raleigh, N. C. Later students from Rutherfordton Hospital, Hamlet Hospital, and State Sanatorium, McCain, N. C., were accepted.

CHRISTIAN STUDENT UNION

The Christian Student Union is the organization in our School of Nursing which seeks to promote the spiritual development of every student nurse and to help her to find ways of serving Christ in the hospital, in a local church, in the community, and in the world. It is a combination of the Baptist Student Union (B.S.U.) and the Young Woman's Auxiliary (Y.W.A.) which were combined to make a more effective religious organization for all students of every denomination.

One has but to compare the student nurse of 1923 with the student nurse of 1949 to realize the growth and changes that have taken place. As the student of today "groans" beneath her load of eight-hour duty (which includes her class hours), she may feel more fortunate when she thinks of the student of yesterday who had ten-hour duty on the wards plus classes at night—with no class hours off and never more than half a day off during the week. She also may be grateful for the educational director, the graduates who serve as instructors, the doctors, the hospital chaplain, dietitians and other specialists—all of whom work together to give her a well-rounded and practical education. These persons make possible many advantages that the student nurse of 1923 did not have, as she had to depend on one graduate nurse and a few private practitioners for her instruction. The psychiatric affiliation begun in May 1948 with the State Hospital in Raleigh, N. C. gives to the student of today a broader nursing knowledge. Also, in "those days," classes were held in the basement of the hospital, while the student of 1949 meets her classes in well-arranged classrooms and laboratories that provide facilities and equipment for learning and practice before a "real patient" is encountered.

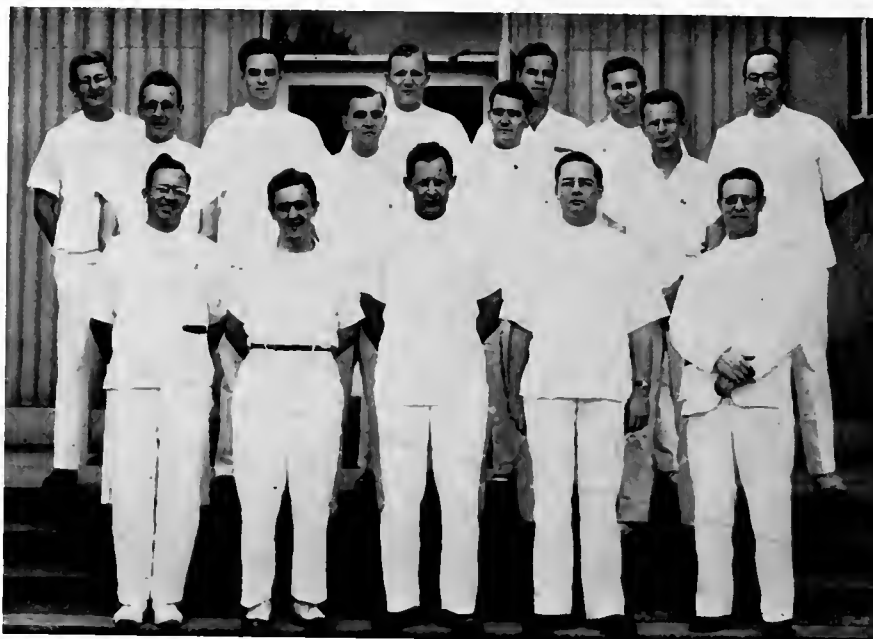

The school uniform has changed little since the beginning of the school. The colors have always been blue and white. The student of 1923 was considered well-groomed in a long-sleeved blue uniform with white apron, bib, collar and cuffs, and not last or least—black shoes and stockings! In about two years, the long sleeves were changed to short ones and the black shoes and stockings became a lovely white—to the joy of all! The uniform later was made in one piece. The cap has been the same since the beginning of the school. Simple in style and line, it is an exact copy of the cap of Miss Heinzerling, the only difference in the caps being the way they are folded. The school pin, simple in design and beautiful in colors of black and gold, was designed by Miss Heinzerling and members of the first class.

The school did not make its rapid growth and improvement of its own accord, and to Miss Edna L. Heinzerling, its first and present director, and her staff of graduate nurses, can be attributed much of its growth and success. Miss Heinzerling, a graduate of the Whitehead-Stokes Private Sanatorium (now Rowan Memorial Hospital) in Salisbury, N. C. has served as director of the school its entire life except for two brief periods. Under her direction, the school has grown not only in number but in usefulness and its graduates, now totaling 410 (3 are deceased) are serving today throughout the world.

Recent graduates and students have also contributed to the school in various ways. The school pennant, in colors of blue and white, was designed by Miss Jeanne Hallawell, a graduate of the class of 1949. To members of the class of March 1948 goes credit for the school paper, The Placebo, Miss Bettie Baise being the first editor. The Student-Faculty Cooperative Government was organized in 1944. Religious activities in the school are directed by a student secretary and the Christian Student Union. To several members of the class of 1946 and Mrs. Daphne Penny Stanton (then student secretary) the school is indebted for the school song which expresses well the feeling of loyalty and pride felt by each student.

And so the school has grown—in number, in ideals, in spirit—but always with the one purpose of bringing physical and mental health through the beautiful art of nursing which Florence Nightingale called "the finest of the fine arts."

WHY WAIT

a Lifetime?

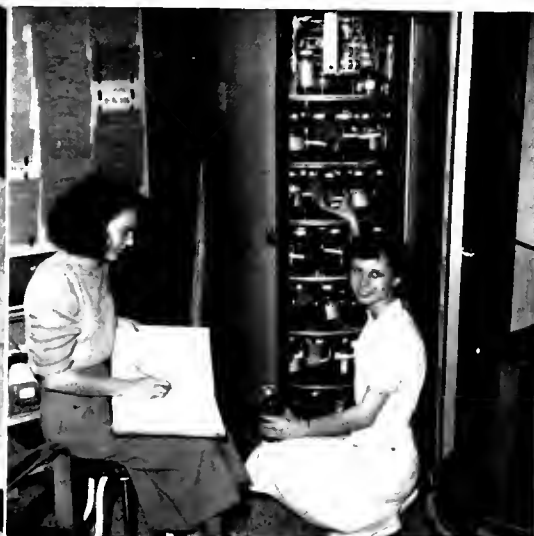

Very often the things we plan to get "some day" seem always just a bit beyond our reach. There's no need to wish and wait. We offer you the things you want on a plan of payment that will suit your ability to pay.
